Hi everybody!

I’m Susie Kim, class of 2011, and I’m running for the position Member at Large. I enjoy studying math and chemistry and I hope to channel this enjoyment to a possible major. I am also doing pre-med and I can’t wait until somebody officially calls me, “Dr. Kim.” [Ahh!]

Why am I interested in this position?

I got out of bed really excited today because of the opportunity to run for the position of Member at Large. During my freshmen year, Bryn Mawr College has given me countless opportunities for growth and passion—from financial aid, externships, social awareness, life-long friendships, to academic fervor and so much more. My conscious calls out to give back to the community, to keep what is effective and leave comfort zones to make changes.

What is my impression of the responsibilities and skills this position will encompass?

Member at Large is a group of six undergraduates who work together along with the student body and the Self Government Association (SGA) to encourage the community to take a more active role in SGA. The job of each member is to be a good representative of the student body as well as SGA. Each member is responsible for gaining insight on and translating the issues that the students and SGA face.

What background or experience do I have that would be relevant to this position?

Currently, I work in the math department as a TA and a grader. I also teach the Trigonometry Mini Course. In those jobs, I quickly learned to take the responsibility of mediating between students and the professor. I had lots of fun in the Trig Mini Course where I was able to create my own teaching material and then deliver it.

What can I change to improve the effectiveness of this position?

To be an effective Member at Large, my goal is to attend all SGA meetings. These meetings are the crossroads of crucial ideas, opinions and concerns on campus. They are vital to being acquainted with the student body. Also, I will carefully read all news media as they are concoctions of major opinions on campus. Additionally, I will attend major events on campus to see what students are interested in.

What new ideas can I bring to this position and the student government as a whole?

I am aware that in the past, Member at Large created an Umbrella Program where each member attended various club meetings to touch bases with different interest groups. Though this program was never carried out, I feel that this is an innovative idea and I am excited to see this executed.

What is my general knowledge of SGA and how have I already contributed?

An issue that I am passionate about is keeping SGA an effective part of our community. Bryn Mawr without SGA would have no self-scheduled exams, no lanterns, no Senior Week, no Academic Honor Code, no Good Night Song! In order for SGA to run as constructively as possible, we need more students to be involved and represented. Thus, what is an efficient way to encourage voting? How do we promote the student body to take part in SGA? What can we do to initiate the freshmen class into SGA? These are questions I will explore through with the team.

So I end here, excited to be a candidate, to serve Bryn Mawr and the vitality, tradition and power that is encompassed within that name, and to solidify our fine ideas. Also, here’s a friendly reminder to vote on Monday or Tuesday!! Please e-mail all questions and comments to HYPERLINK skim06@brynmawr.edu.
With lots and lots of Love to the Bryn Mawr Community, Susie
My name is Sadie Marlow and I am running for the position of Member at Large. I decided to run for this position because I have many friends who cannot participate in SGA every Sunday, but really want their views to be heard. I want to be able to represent them in SGA, and you, too. Everyone in this community deserves to have their voices heard and I want to be one of the people who can relay those voices to the SGA. I understand that this position will require my time and that I will be given certain responsibilities within the SGA and beyond it, and I gladly embrace this. I am involved in many groups on campus, including the swim team and I have several jobs on campus that put me in touch with many students that I otherwise might never have known. I would use my connections to the many groups on BMC campus to discover what is most important to them and to find out what they want to get out of their self-governance association. I have attended many SGA meetings, I believe that I understand the ways that it already makes BMC such an awesome place to be, but I’m hoping that myself and the other Members at Large, with your help and input, can make it work for our school just that much better.
Why am I interested in this position?

I Love Bryn Mawr, and would love to become involved in the community in a greater capacity. I enjoy attending SGA meetings, and love volunteering within the community. I am ready to devote more energy to SGA, and think that this position is a great way to get more involved.

What background or experience do I have that would be relevant to this position?

Members at Large are responsible for representing the Bryn Mawr Community to the best of their ability. I am involved in many different activities on campus, and have many different insights into the community which would help me in this position. Currently, I am a member of Campus Girl Scouts, the Bi-Co Orchestra and Percussion Ensemble, the Alumnae Student Committee, and am a customsperson in Merion. All of these activities would help me in providing an informed voice about the goings on in these activities. Also, as a member of the Alumnae Student Committee, I am responsible for being a voice to the student community, which is also necessary in this position.

What is my general knowledge of SGA and how have I already contributed?

I started attending SGA meetings regularly during the spring semester of last year. I also volunteer to help in other SGA events, such as setting up and counting for Plenary, and decorating the dining halls for May Day last year. I am extremely interested in SGA, and help in every way that I can. I feel that as a member at large, I would be able to participate in a greater capacity and become even more involved in the community.
Name: Sumedha Niranjan

Year: 2011

E-mail: sniranjan@brynmawr.edu

Position: Members at Large

More info available at: elections.blogs.brynmawr.edu

Questions, Concerns, Comments: elections@brynmawr.edu (Amber Zambelli & Erica Seaborne – elections co-heads)

Who is Sumedha Niranjan?

Hi everyone! I am a sophomore right now and a Growth and Structure of Cities major and possible Italian minor. I am a customs person in Rockefeller, Secretary for Mayuri, a COPS representative, and a member of Acabellas.

What does a Member at Large do?

Members at Large are responsible for attending all SGA meeting. They get a voting position and are liaisons between the Bryn Mawr community and SGA. Members at Large are also available for researching any information that may be unknown during SGA meetings and for helping around with any setting up for SGA events.

Why am I qualified to be a Member at Large?

Experience: While I have never had a position on the SGA board or assembly, I have attended all SGA meetings this year as well as plenary. Last year I was a freshman representative for Rhoads dorm as well as COP’s representative. This year I would really like to get more involved on campus and I believe that SGA is a great cause.

Communication: I think that being in members at large requires a lot of people skills. I love working in big groups and am a great listener. I am really interested in hearing other peoples opinions on campus and bringing them forward to SGA meetings. I am also a very approachable person and look forward to hearing any comments and concerns that may arise.

What can I change to improve the effectiveness of this position?

I think the best way to improve the effectiveness of this position is to really let the Bryn Mawr community know who the members at large are so that they can voice any suggestions they have towards the members. I know last year that I did not know who the members are large were because they are like “undercover” assembly members, but if the members at large can be known more of, they can interact more with the students.

Please remember to vote this coming Monday and Tuesday (Oct. 6th & 7th)!
Hi, my name is Brittney Thornbury, I'm a sophomore running for Member-at-Large, and I have a confession: I'm an SGA addict. Ever since last year during Customs Week, when one of my customs people told me how much she loved going to SGA meetings and that I should attend the first meeting of the year with her, I've faithfully attended almost every single one. I genuinely love SGA even though I'm not actually obligated to attend, never having held a voting assembly position. Also, I'm very active on campus (I'm a customs person, a supervisor at Erdman, one of the Rhoads North Traditions Rep co-heads, and I'm involved with both Mixed Company and Nimbus litmag) so I am used to taking leadership positions plus I have a lot of contacts outside SGA.

I really think that Bryn Mawr students have a special opportunity in that they do get to change things about campus if they are really passionate about certain issues, even if those issues are something that might seem inconsequential at the moment. But the cool thing is that they're not all that inconsequential and they will be affecting students for years to come--for example, if the students hadn't had a forum like SGA then we might still have to sign in our guests or we might still be walking around in bat robes and mortarboards. And if the student body didn't have a place where they could be heard, like Plenary, we'd still have Styrofoam takeout boxes!

I think that a big problem with SGA does exist, though, and is getting bigger by the year. It seems to me that there is a big divide between those who actively commit themselves to SGA and those who might want to commit or offer ideas for change, but other time commitments are keeping them from going to meetings or to Plenary. Just a couple weeks ago, somebody posted on our new anonymous boards about how they felt alienated by what they deemed SGA "insiders," and how they felt their voice wasn't being heard. I really want to reach out to that component of the student body and offer them more ways to be heard. Possibly my fellow members-at-large and I could set up a Bryn Mawr blog where we posted about certain issues on campus and invited fellow students to comment with their thoughts. Part of the job is also just talking to as many people as possible, and I'm certainly outgoing and, I think, approachable so I hope that people are comfortable enough to start conversations--and if they aren't, I will try to reach out to them.

I think that part of being a member-at-large is really keeping track of what is happening on campus, and bringing those things up in meetings. Basically, it entails keeping the entire student body's concerns in mind when making decisions and the only way to do that properly is to reach out to as many different kinds of students as possible and ask them what they think. Everyone pays SGA dues, and everyone deserves to have their voice heard. And, let's face it, I may be an SGA addict but not everyone has the time or the ability to dedicate themselves to the cause, so members-at-large need to step up to the plate and lessen the divide between those sleep-deprived students too busy juggling classes and jobs to make it to SGA meetings, and those equally sleep-deprived students who, for some reason, just can't get enough student government.
Hello, fellow Mawrters! My name is Emma Wisniewski-Barker, and I am running for Member at Large. Here is just a little bit about myself: I am a sophomore from Newark, Delaware where I live with my parents and my younger sister, although I also have three older siblings who have grown up and moved out. Here at Bryn Mawr, I am a Customsperson in Rhoads North and a tour guide. Besides that, I am also a member of the BMC Greens and the volleyball team.

As I have been attending SGA meetings regularly since my freshman year, I have a strong understanding of how SGA is run. Specifically, I am interested in the Member at Large position for a number of reasons. First of all, I feel that I can bring many points of view to the discussion during SGA meetings. Because I am involved in many different activities on campus, I get a chance to hear lots of people’s opinions on SGA. With the input that I receive, I would be able to represent a diverse portion of the community with my vote.

Another reason that I am interested in becoming a Member at Large is because one of the jobs of the Members at Large is to be available to committee heads and exec board members to help out with projects, and I think that being able to help out with many aspects of SGA, even in minor ways, would allow me to discover even more about the workings of SGA and what could be done to make it run smoother and serve the community in a better, more efficient way.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to email me at ewisniewsk@brynmawr.edu.
Nina Jankowicz
for 2011 Songsmistress
njankowicz@brynmawr.edu

Ever since I was a frosh at my first Step Sing
Whether shouting out Akoue, or loudly annassing
I felt a certain draw to becoming your Songsmistress
So please enjoy these rhymes, or I’ll certainly be listless

Music’s always been an inherent part of me
I sing all the time, and I lead The Extreme Keys
I also am a member of a “wizard rock” band
That plays shows around the country to Harry Potter fans

When I’m not doing homework or otherwise engaged,
The chance is high that you will find me singing on a stage
And if the stage is empty and the lights are dimmed down low,
Your next best shot’s to find me singing in the studio

And if you have your doubts about how I’ll lead a crowd
As any of my friends and they’ll say I’m freakin’ loud
I hope I’ve demonstrated what a Songsmistress I’ll be
And on October 6th and 7th, I hope you’ll vote for me!
Zandra Martinez
Candidate for Class 2011 Songsmistress
armartinez@brynmawr.edu

Why am I interested in this position?

I love Bryn Mawr, and all of our traditions. The step-sings are one of my favorite traditions, as I love the energy and how it brings the classes together within our community. I love to sing, and am very enthusiastic about Bryn Mawr, so this position just seems like a perfect fit.

What background or experience do I have that would be relevant to this position?

This summer I worked at a Girl Scout Camp, where I would lead a hundred 9-13 year olds in song several times a day. I had a great time doing this, and loved when I overheard girls singing the songs I taught them, or telling their parents about what cool songs they had learned at camp. I really enjoy singing, and including other people in my bursts of song. I am currently a member of the bi-co orchestra, and percussion ensemble, and my sense of rhythm will definitely help me in this position. Also, I have hosted several sing-alongs for the Girl Scouts in my area, and began leading mine and other troops in song when I was 8 years old. I was also voted most spirited of my high school class, and am a sophomore traditions rep for Merion this year.

A Song in My Heart

I have been singing and entertaining my family and friends since I was two, when I wrote my first song. Music has always been a passion for me, and as I am as excited about Bryn Mawr and the class of 2011 as I am about music, this position is one that I would love to hold. Last year, I was extremely excited about Lantern Night, and practiced, “Sophias” for hours, until I knew all of the parts, and could confidently sing it up and down my hall. My dedication to learning the songs, and my enthusiasm for traditions, singing, and leading others has not diminished, and I would love to share my enthusiasm with you as songsmistress.
We, Charlie Caplan and Rachel Roepke, are interested in being Class of 2012 Co-Presidents because we care about where Bryn Mawr is going to go throughout the year. We are interested in being a part of the decision-making process to help further along the spirit of Bryn Mawr. We believe that each person should be able to express their opinion about how this school is run, and we feel as though we can both efficiently help our class have a say in decisions and effectively carry them out.

This position requires good judgement, an open mind, a friendly smile, and a drive to allow Bryn Mawr the best college experience for each student. Rachel and Charlie both fulfill all of these. In addition, Rachel has been the president/captain of various high school groups, most importantly a two-year drum major of her 175+ marching band and the Chair of ECLIPSE Youth Grant-Making Committee. Charlie has been involved on the board of his school’s French Club for three years, culminating in the position of President his senior year, and also resurrected the once-dead Gay-Straight Alliance.

While there may not be any changes to make at this present moment, we will do all we can do be the best Co-Presidents we can be for our class. We will go to any lengths to assure that each freshman, regardless of race, religion, sexuality, gender, etc, has their voice heard.
Why Liana Donahue for Freshmen Class President?

During the past year I have held many leadership positions, including ones that have forced me to have sole responsibility. Last year I was senior class president at my high school, and learned the key to time management, and being able to get events started on campus. I have experience talking to administration, and I am humble enough to take suggestions, and hear concerns. Yet, my best qualities are that I am a very approachable person, and love to have a good time. Let’s face it who wants a boring freshmen year?! The position of being class president will allow me to make sure we have an amazing year together, and that a sense of unity is built between our class. Some ideas that I have for this year are a freshmen class olympics, freshmen/junior class talent show, teas throughout the year, community service month, and a plan to revamp plenary. This position is something I take extremely serious, because I honestly believe starting freshmen year on a positive note will affect your outlook on college for the upcoming years. That is why I feel I am meant to be freshmen class president.
Gabby And Sana, You Know You Wanna!

Who are we?

Gabby Marangell- I am an undecided major so far, testing out political science and French as options. I am playing lacrosse and participating in the Bryn Mawr Students For Obama Club. I love mangoes, cheese and walking around the city.

Sana Venjara- I am planning on being a cities major with a concentration in the Middle East. Here at Bryn Mawr I have been an active participant in the Muslim Student Association (I was on of the MC’s at the Ramadan dinner!) My dream job would be to be a comedian, but unfortunately I have come to discover that I am not very funny!

Why do we want to be Class of 2012 Co-Presidents?

We are both very interested in SGA. Acting as 2012 class presidents would give us the opportunity to become very familiar with the SGA process, while getting to know all of our freshman peers. This is the perfect combination of our two freshman goals! We also love what Bryn Mawr has had to offer us so far, and we want make sure that all of our first year experiences continue to be the best possible.

What we hope to do as Class Presidents:

• Already, in our few weeks here, we have noticed the lack of live entertainment provided by Bryn Mawr. Swarthmore and Haverford tend to have frequent concerts on the weekends, and we think that this should also be possible at Bryn Mawr. We plan on working the sub section in the SGA that is in charge of college entertainment in hope that they help us to have more concerts and social events held here.

• Both to pay for our entertainment and to create fun class of 2012 memorabilia we plan on hosting fundraisers.
We also would like to strengthen our relationship with Swarthmore College and have a strong Tri-College Network. We believe that this process begins with us, as we are just developing our own relationship with Bryn Mawr and surrounding schools.

What do we know about SGA?

While we have only been at Bryn Mawr College for a limited amount of weeks we have made sure to attend all of the SGA meetings held so far, gaining a general sense of the SGA process.

Are we qualified??

In terms of our qualifications, we believe that our past experiences will be a great help in our work as class president. We both have rigorous past experience with fundraising. Some examples of such experience is, Sana worked with Save Darfur through high school, raising money for their cause and Gabby spent a year raising funds for a month long cultural exchange in France. We have connections through past work experience in New York City to bring more entertainment to Bryn Mawr College.

Brielle Stark & Karina Grant
Candidate Statement for Co-Presidents of 2012

• We are interested in this position because we feel like every single person of the class of 2012 deserves a say in the government and we want to provide the means for this experience to be both pleasant and rewarding. We want to facilitate opportunities so that freshmen can embrace the traditions and policies of Bryn Mawr as actively as possible and have as much of a say as they desire!

• We expect to be working diligently, all the time. We love and want as many comments/suggestions as possible from many different people!

• As individuals who have both had more than four years of experience in student government, we are very passionate about self government and we feel we are suited to represent our peers to the best of our abilities.

• As co-presidents, we want to have as much feedback from our representatives as possible. In order to do anything efficiently in government, there has to be enthusiasm at both ends of the spectrum. Your enthusiasm will be met equally with ours and we WILL get things accomplished! We will do our best to make class functions exactly how YOU want them to be!

• We have a lot of new ideas about fundraising for our class, spontaneous class functions, how to get larger numbers at our class meetings, how to get our ideas respected and discussed in the Representative Council—and sometimes there are just so many diverse activities that we need one BIG class party!

• We both know a lot about self governance and have researched Bryn Mawr’s SGA as well as talked with many members of SGA. We both constantly keep updated on the SGA’s meeting statuses and are active voters!

In the end, we know just how crazy freshman life is—whew!—but we really want to get as many freshman involved with Bryn Mawr life as possible and incorporate what THEY believe into the policy! We want to be your facilitators & friends in government, not your superiors!
We have the WRIGHT ZABORSKILLZZZZ to be 2012 Co-Presidents

WHO?: Jennifer Wright ’12 and Mary Zaborskis ‘12

WHY?: We are madly in love with Bryn Mawr and are even more madly in love with the strong and vibrant community that is the Class of 2012. Between the two of us, we have TWO HEADS to think critically, FOUR EARS to hear your concerns and ideas, TWO VOICES to represent our class in SGA, FOUR EYES to see what our class wants and needs, FOUR ARMS to give out free hugs, TWO HEARTS to pump out the love and energy necessary to lead our class responsibly, respectfully, and effectively, and ONE SHARED AND UNIQUE VISION for how to get the job done.

WHAT?: We have a broad range of ideas for fun and spirited activities that will unite our grade and spread the love. Some ideas include but are not limited to:

2012 CONCERT: Sing? Dance? Do stand-up comedy? Started a band with your Customs group? All could display their talent in a fun concert on Merion Green!

SECRET PALS: Whoever wanted to participate would be given the name of a classmate and secretly do kind things for this person throughout the year (e. g. leave a quote on their door, a kind note in their mailbox)

DANCE-A-THON: 2012 can get their groove on in a dance-off to end all dance-offs. All proceeds would go to a charity chosen by our class.

BIRTHDAY RAPS: All will receive some type of B-A-D-A-Dollar Sign-S rap song or treat on their birthday (or half-birthday for those with birthdays that have already passed and birthdays in the summer)
GRADEWIDE NEWSLETTER: What goes in with the other 365 people in our class? We will send a newsletter out to the class on a monthly basis reporting about what we’re all up to, sharing ways to procrastinate on YouTube, giving suggestions for songs to download, and other random information.

HOW?: Between the two of us, we have years of leadership experience. Between Mary’s years as Class President, Study Body Vice-President, and captain of various teams in high school and Jennifer’s years as yearbook editor-in-chief and president and manager of various activities, we have experience communicating with administration, effectively organizing major functions, raising morale, uniting large groups, listening to concerns, representing groups fairly and effectively, and writing rap songs. We have the time, energy, determination, and desire to get the job done. We have been consistently attending SGA meetings (although for reasons we are unsure of, our names have not appeared in the minutes), and we are excited to represent the interests and concerns of the Class of 2012 in SGA.

WHEN?: Be Sure to Vote in the SGA Elections: 10/6 9am – 10/7 5pm

More information available at: the elections website - elections.blogs.brynmawr.edu; on Bryn Mawr email; on the SGA board located in the Campus Center.

Questions?: feel free to contact Jennifer at jfwright@brynmawr.edu and Mary at mzaborskis@brynmawr.edu or the Elections Heads at elections@brynmawr.edu

Hey Class of 2012!! We are Allaina K. Propst (contact: apropst@brynmawr.edu) and Sarah K. Nelson (contact: sknelson@brynmawr.edu). We are running for Student Presidents for the Class of 2012! We are both very passionate about Bryn Mawr College and would be proud to represent such an empowering school. Its student-run government is one aspect that attracted us to Bryn Mawr. We have some ideas of our own which we would like to see put into effect (addressed later in this statement), but we also realize that as Class Presidents we have an obligation to listen and take into account the ideas of our classmates. As a team, we will work very well as a liaison from the Freshman Class to the Bryn Mawr administration in order to make sure that all your ideas are heard and given great consideration. I (Allaina) was Secretary of my class for three years. Also, I ran numerous blood drives, helped run graduation and was the Prom Committee Chairman. I (Sarah) was Vice President of the Student Association in high school. I was also President of Latin Club and Captain of my Club Tennis Team at high school.

We talked to one of the 2011 Class Presidents for the Freshman Class last year, Christina Wagner, and she informed us of a few of the responsibilities that come along with this position. She told us that one of the most important aspects of Freshman Class President is to develop a strong class community. Since we are both very friendly and outgoing people, we would do whatever possible to make everybody feel welcome. Additionally, we would like to plan social events (such as teas) to promote bonding within our class. When talking to Christina, she told us that there was not much of a relationship among the Class Presidents of the various grades. The current Class Presidents are striving to change this by strengthening this relationship. We would be very interested in helping build a connection among all the Class Presidents so that we can work together and be of more use to the student body as a whole. We also look forward to setting up several fundraisers so that we are able to finance events in the future.

The Student Government Association (SGA) at Bryn Mawr was the first self-governing association for a college in the nation. This organization works to make sure everyone’s voice and opinion is heard and contemplated. Both of us attended plenary this past Sunday and we thought that it was really great that as students we have so much say in what happens at this College. However, one thing that we would like to draw attention to is the fact that plenary goes late into the afternoon. A breakfast of bagels and sandwiches alone is not enough to satiate the students’ hunger for this amount of time. Therefore, we would like to discuss possibly serving a light lunch to keep up the energy and excitement of the students at this awesome event.

Just a couple facts about us that might interest you:

Allaina: Favorite color: purple

Favorite movie: Zoolander

Favorite food: any flavor ice cream

Favorite animal: tiger

Favorite TV Show: The Office and Lost

Favorite sport: soccer

(I play for BMC!!)

Favorite hobby: taming wild animals

Astrological sign: Pisces
Sarah: Favorite color: green

Favorite movie: Beauty and the Beast

Favorite food: mint chocolate chip ice cream

Favorite animal: turtle

Favorite TV Show: The Office and Seinfeld

Favorite sport: tennis

Favorite hobby: drawing and painting

Astrological sign: Virgo

An excerpt from a horoscope validating the compatibility between us:

“[Pisces and Virgo] each are continuously inspired and assisted by one another, forming a cyclical ring of new ideas and a steady stream of excitement. Conflict rarely arises between them, and when it does it quickly resolves itself. Both partners have learned the fine art of compromise. What's the best aspect of the Virgo-Pisces relationship? It's their complementary and harmonious attitude toward one another.”

One of the reasons I came to Bryn Mawr was because of the Honor Code, which I believe creates a spirit of trust, taking responsibility for each other, and, most importantly, an environment in which we care and look out for one another. I really want to play a more active part in this environment, and that is why I am running for this position. I want to get more involved in the campus that I have called home for the past 3 years, a place that has changed and nurtured me into the person I am today.

My experience stems from my three years of being a student here, interacting with faculty and students and participating in clubs, school traditions and academics. I am the co-founder and co-president of BARN (Bryn Mawr Animal Rights Network), student leader of the Bi-Co Flute Choir, was a Customs Person (2006-2007) and work in the library. Through these past experiences, I am ready to take on a position in which I will be working with others in to interpret the Honor Code in a manner that will be best for everyone involved. I will strive to be an understanding, discrete, and helpful addition to the wonderful students who currently make up the Honor Board. Thank you.
Judy Barr, Curriculum Committee Co-Head

jebarr@brynmawr.edu

Member of the Student Curriculum Committee in 2005-2006; Co-Head 2006-2007

I'm interested in re-running for this position because I have seen the kinds of issues that the Curriculum Committees deal with - from CSEM requirements to where all the academic money goes - and I really believe strongly that there should be a broader campus knowledge about the way the SCC/FCC function

I hope to increase the awareness of the Curriculum Committee on campus and help it become a much more focused group, with greater amounts of student input and increased dialogue with the faculty

Care about CSEM? Want to talk about minors? Really intrigued by theses? Come talk to me!
Our campus is a mish mash of all different kinds of folks-and this is a beautiful thing. As SoCo Head, I plan to stir up this mish mash in a number of fun activities that appeal to everyone. I will bring my enthusiasm, my creativity, and my love for sociability to plan some mixers and minglers for everyone. Some of these ideas already include frequent ice cream socials-yes, food!- a slip and slide/waterworks tournament on Merion green, and a sweet winter formal that yes, will be a blast. I would also like to add that being social is also a personal thing and that people interact in different ways. My goal is to incorporate and be mindful of these different types of socialability in an appeal to all of us beautiful Bryn Mawr women. Ultimately my mission is for the people. 😊
Hi

My name is Anagha Kumar (class of 2011) and I am running for the position of Civic Engagement Representative.

I am interested in this position because I feel that as privileged women who are fortunate enough to be attending Bryn Mawr, we have a responsibility to help other less fortunate members of the community.

I think this post will primarily encompass bringing more awareness to the several unique volunteer opportunities the Civic Engagement Office has to offer. As is the case with any position, I think being passionate about the task at hand is one of the most important aspects of wanting to be elected. In addition to that, being organized, well-informed and people-oriented are all skills that I think are necessary for this position.

It is true that I have did not work for the CEO last year. However, I hope to get involved this semester and I will hopefully be able to keep up my commitment for the coming semesters as well. As mentioned before though, I take serving the community very seriously.

If I were elected I would improve the effectiveness of this position by primarily focusing on bringing people’s attention to the CEO’s activities. Through web mail, posters, maybe even CEO-Teas, I would try and get more people involved.

Having never held office before, I would bring a fresh perspective to this position and to SGA as a whole.

I’ve always wanted to be more involved in SGA and I feel like this is an amazing way to do so. I always attend plenary as I think its important for students to play an active role in self-governance.

Running for COPS co-heads
“Tallie and Steph- fighting crime getting the bad guys one at a time!”

We are interested to serve as COPS co-heads to ensure each member of the community is in the safest living and educational environment possible. As upperclass-women at Bryn Mawr we have developed a strong relationship with the community as well as with members of the Public Safety office, which will foster comfortable dialogue. The main responsibility of the COPS co-heads is being a liaison between the community and public safety. We will hold regular meetings with the COPS representatives from each dorm as to address any and all concerns of residents. As COPS co-heads we will also help organize Public Safe-teas to educate the student-body on important issues. We are excited to serve as your COPS co-heads so remember to vote!
